Navigating the Next Chapter of the Pandemic

The next chapter? The pandemic didn't come with a manual, book or set of instructions. We are figuring it out as we go. We are all doing the best we can to navigate these uncharted waters. We are all trying to make good, informed, logical decisions based on the information we are provided (and even that varies depending on your news source). And most importantly, we are trying to keep our family and friends safe and healthy. That includes our church family.

With prayerful discernment and in light of the current CDC guidelines, the HSUMC PRG team met August 18th and modified the Mitigation Plan created in June. The plan strongly recommends that everyone wear a mask in church until COVID cases in the area decline and until further notice. The PRG team will meet periodically to review the data and discuss. Copies of the revised plan can be found in the Narthex.

It is very difficult to make plans when you don't know what tomorrow brings. How do you create a newsletter when data and policies change daily? A couple of months ago, we were excited with the assumption that the pandemic was in the rear view mirror. We were able to shed our masks and start venturing out again. A resemblance of life—as we once knew it—was resuming!

Unfortunately, in the last few weeks, COVID cases have increased and we are once again facing uncertainty. This summer, High Street UMC found itself waiting for a pastor to start in September, volunteer roles have not been completely filled and attendance has been slow to rebound. Is it the summer slump? The pandemic? The absence of a pastor? A change in cultural values? Or all of the above?

We ask for your patience, understanding and flexibility!! Dates may change, events may be cancelled or postponed, activities may be eliminated, requirements may change and information may be late coming. We will do our best to keep you updated through emails, phone calls and social media.

FROM THE PASTOR

At freshman orientation at Virginia Wesleyan College in 1980, Terre Ittner, an interpersonal relations expert, told the incoming class that the best way to make friends is to get people to talk about themselves. “We’re all our own favorite subjects,” she said, so if we want someone to like us, it’s best to show an interest in them.

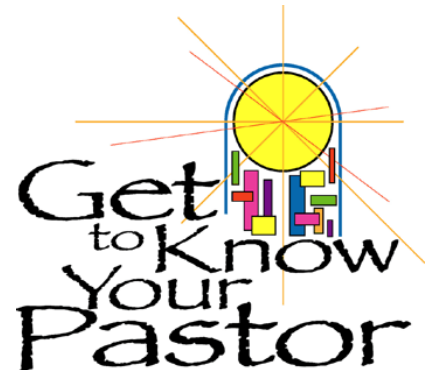

I think that this principle applies in evangelism as well, and evangelism is one of my passions. This may explain why I found one training day in Virginia Beach so meaningful a few years ago. At this training, Christa Springstead, who was then pastor of St. John’s UMC in Norfolk, gave a message based on Jesus’ telling the disciples that, if they followed him, they would fish for people. “When,” Christa asked in light of this text, “did it become about them coming to us rather than our going to them?”

That line has stuck with me ever since. I often repeated it during my last three years at Epworth UMC in Norfolk, where evangelism took on some interesting expressions. The church, at the corner of Freemason and Boush streets in downtown Norfolk, should be the envy of every church because of its location, according to my former DS, Wayne Snead. Epworth is surrounded on three sides by condos and apartments filled with young couples and retirees. It didn’t take long to see that almost all of our neighbors had dogs, whom they walked regularly. This led us to offer Paws in Faith, a monthly worship service for people and their pets, and Coffee on the Porch, which took us to the sidewalks on Sunday mornings and sometimes on weekdays to offer coffee, water, and doughnuts to passersby. We got to know a lot of people, and dogs, and learned that Yvette, who worked next door, liked lemon-flavored water, which we tried to keep on hand, and to expect to talk about football and basketball with James and Terry, who worked for the City of Norfolk. We also began to invite speakers on topics such as environmental ministry, Appalachian missions, and police chaplaincy to Paws in Faith. Meaningful connections were made as we went out and met our neighbors.

I look forward to learning what evangelism looks like in Franklin. I look forward to worshipping, witnessing, serving, and studying with you, and getting to know you through events that I read about in the last newsletter, including the Relay for Life, the worship service and picnic at the Bronco Club, the UMM breakfast, and the Men’s Bible study. I’ll go ahead and mention the F3 Nation workouts again, too, because I am pretty excited about those.

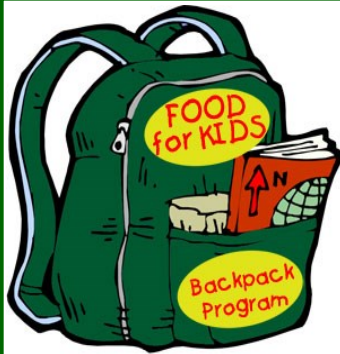

Grace to you, and peace,

Ned Alderman

Backpack Program for Children at local S.P. Morton Elementary School

We have been supporting the Backpack Feeding Program for 50 food insecure children at S.P. Morton Elementary School in Franklin for the past 8 years, I believe. Each year we raise the money to sponsor these 50 children, and then we pack bags of food delivered from the Food Bank of Southeastern Virginia each month and take them to the school where they are sent home with these children twice a month. Last year, because of COVID, we were unable to actually pack the bags of food and take them to the school, but we remained a faithful and giving partner to these children by maintaining our financial commitment. The Food Bank took care of the food part at their facility in Norfolk and then delivered the bags to the school. From there the bus drivers and other school personnel delivered these backpacks of food to the children's homes. It definitely took a village, but the program was able to continue. Thank you for your support in this vital hunger-relief program.

Now for the good news!! We are going to be able to go back to our normal way of operating our Backpack Program beginning in late September/early October. In order to do this we need some help in several ways:

1. We need financial sponsors for each child - $110.00 for the year or you can just make a donation of any amount to the Backpack Program. Please make checks out to HSUMC and put "Backpack Program" on the memo line.
2. We need volunteers to help pack the bags of food. We have been doing this once a month on a Tuesday starting at 5:00 p.m. I'm not sure if this will be the time and day again this year. I will let you know as soon as I get more information from the Food Bank. The packing usually takes about an hour. I'm asking you if you're interested in helping with the packing to let me know. You can call me (569-9449), call the church office (562-3367), email the church office (hsumc@beldar.com), or sign up in the narthex on the Backpack volunteer list on the round table. Please leave the best way to contact you when you sign up. We are going to be very careful for our packing sessions with social distancing, masking, and perhaps a little different way of packing as long as the current COVID conditions prevail.
3. I also need a few volunteers to be available to help check in and put away the food when it is delivered to church once a month. This requires some lifting. Also, there is a need to deliver the boxes of the bags of food after assembling them to the school twice a month. This requires lifting boxes as well.

I know this is a lot of information, but since we haven't done this in a while and we might have some new people, I felt I should include everything. Thank you for your support of this vital program.

Many Thanks - Many People

The summer is nearly over. It has been a unique one for God's church called High Street. We have completed a 10 week stent between pastors. We have appreciated Pastor Ned's phone calls recently to help in preparation for his arrival. We have had 10 weeks of sermons by laity and different pastors. Thanks to Harlan, Taylor, Jim, Jay Carey and Greg West. We have also had a postponement of our Vacation Bible School due to COVID. Thanks to Marie Smith and her team for all the preparation that went into this. And now we are facing a surge of COVID in our community.

In the midst of it all, however, we have affirmed our being a family of faith. We have heard inspirational and challenging messages from our pulpit. Thanks to Alice, we have crossed our t's and dotted our i's. We have paid our obligations, thanks to Jennifer and our supportive church family. Individually and collectively, we have prayed for our church, our community, our new pastor, and our world.

Our "healthy church team" has reconvened to point us in the correct direction for the safety of our church family and community. They will meet regularly in the coming months as conditions change.

Our music program continues to create worshipful music which challenges us and is soothing to God's ears. Thanks to Cary and Mike and our many talented musicians.

The parsonage committee has made necessary preparations in the parsonage for Ned Alderman's arrival. Thanks to Ann Jervey, Meredith Wrenn and their team. Thanks also to the United Methodist Men, especially Don Spengeman and Mike Wrenn for their hard work.

There is much to be done, but High Streeters have never been afraid of hard work. Listen out for opportunities to serve as we move into the fall.

Thanks to all who have served and those who have participated in worship either in person or online. Please come to worship. It is still a wonderful place to be.

Quite sincerely,
Mike Ponder
Lay Leader

Calling All Men!

High Street UMC has started a ministry for men called F3 which stands for Faith, Fellowship, and Fitness. On Saturday mornings at 8am, the men gather outside at High Street UMC to workout, hangout, and build a circle of trust based on our faith in Jesus Christ. This is a "work at your own pace" group where no one will judge how many or how long you can do an exercise. To learn more about F3, go to <https://f3nation.com/>

Yoga is for everyone!

If you are interested in learning more about breathing techniques, meditation, stretches and ways to reduce stress and tension, join me on Tuesdays and Thursday evenings at 6pm (requires getting up and down from the floor) or a chair yoga class on Wednesday mornings at 10am. Listen to your body and make decisions "off your mat" based on what you learn "on your mat." Classes are in the Fellowship Hall.

For more information and to get on my email list to receive the schedule for each month, contact Jane Riddick-Fries at 757-653-9118 or jfries@feridies.com.

THANK YOU to ALL who lead the worship services and delivered meaningful messages to the congregation this summer. We appreciate you sharing your time and talents with HSUMC!

The Children will not have class on Sunday, September 5th (Labor Day Weekend) or September 19th (Bronco Club Sunday), but we invite the children to join us on Sunday, September 12th at 11am. This will be the last time the Children will meet at 11am. We plan to resume our normal time of 9:45am on Sunday, September 26th.

We appreciate your patience and ask that you stay tuned for more details about the children, youth and adult Sunday School classes as they resume this Fall. If you would like to teach Sunday school, please fill out the side tab of the bulletin & place in the offering plate or sign up on the sheets on the round table in the Narthex. Thank you!

Update on the Wings of Caring Aviation Ministry in The Democratic Republic of the Congo

We had heard a while back that the missionary whom we sponsor, Jacques Akasa Umembudi, was going to retire. Our church has been supporting him and his ministry for many years (at least 25) as a missionary through the United Methodist Global Board of Ministries with the "Wings of Caring Aviation Ministry in the DRC in Africa. I was finally able to catch up with him via email recently to find out his plans and the status of this vital ministry. We send between $2,000 and $2500 every year to help fund this program. We raise this money each year through our Tree of Stars during the Advent season and our Lenten Cross of butterflies in the spring. Below is his response to my email. We will be sending our donation this fall. It is good to know that he is continuing in his position until a replacement can be found. Please keep Jacques, his family, and the people who he serves in your prayers.

Dear Ruthie Ponder/Brothers and Sisters in Christ of High Street UMC in Franklin, VA,

Greetings in His name from Kinshasa/the Democratic Republic of Congo. I pray that this email finds each of you in healthy conditions. Yes, we all went through a very tough time of COVID 19 but despite the pandemic, the Lord has protected us; we are so grateful.

We surely have retired as GBGM personnel (active missionaries) but, the local church along with GBGM have asked me if I could continue to serve until a new pilot mechanic is found. As you know this program of rescuing people in need especially for medical urgencies, is very important. So, I accepted to continue serving our church as pilot mechanic until a replacement is found. In our agenda, I was supposed to itinerate and speak to our different supporting churches about our retirement and seek their continuing support to the Wings of Caring Aviation Ministry. But, the COVID came and we couldn't do anything. However, God willing, we might be able to meet physically again with you and share Good news of our Lord through our Aviation Ministry.

Please continue to support Wings of Caring Aviation Ministry. You are the one who make this program alive with your support (prayers, donations and services). When we fly a patient to the hospital to get medical attention, we always tell him about people who love him even that he has not seen them yet. And he must feel blessed because these people have already paid for his transportation to the hospital. You make a difference in many people lives.

Once again thank for all support to Central Congo Wings of Caring Aviation Ministry.

*Jacques Umembudi Akasa ( Retired Missionary )
